Award-winning designer David Pakutin has created an epic-scale game set in a classical fantasy universe. Created within a year from conception to launch, it's a crazy game with sword-and-sorcery elements, rogue-like intensity, and an equally crazy roguelike gameplay system, level design, game mechanics, and feature set. It will include 3 different games with multiple storylines, completely different characters, and a huge assortment of unique enemies, special weapons, and artifacts. New players will be able to jump in and start playing right now. Currently, there is a tutorial to get you started, but we will be releasing an extensive tutorial soon. This is a tutorialless game! To create the ultimate rogue-like experience, we have just finished a procedural floor generation system that allows us to generate any level possible. Every level has different terrain, layout, and challenges. The levels are procedurally generated, meaning that the layout and terrain don't repeat. Each floor has a unique layout, and each floor has a unique "feel" to it. Some floors have powerful monsters, some are shrouded in fog, and others are deadly ice. Every floor has different challenges. Laying walls, digging, cutting trees, freezing rivers, building bridges, and many other features and challenges. You won't find "repeatable" levels or "standard" floors in this game. What you will find: • Extremely deep gameplay: Thousands of procedurally generated levels! • An intuitive, deep, tactical combat system with complete support for keyboard and mouse control. All the battles feel completely different. • Advanced level design: Procedural floors, special physics, moving objects, and many surprises. • A deep story: a tangled tale full of ancient gods, cults, prophecies, and epic battles. • No game like this one before! • Infinite procedural levels and levels per story! Procedural Floor Generation Get ready for a world where every level is a new maze, complete with new puzzles and traps. Character Creation Thanks to the power of procedural generation, you start with a fully customizable character of your choice. You can tweak many aspects of your character, including speed, strength, and intelligence. Battle A powerful melee combat system with close to no level-lock. Every battle will feel different from the one before. Everything from the enemies to your special weapons will

 dv2000a monitor MacBook Pro (Early 2008) Combinations I had 80 GB iPod mini 200 GB iPod mini Connected via Apple Lightning cable to the same power supply as the iMac. (Alternative to an iPod shuffle) I have 3 different audio setups for my lunches and these are currently captured in a digital audio tape recorder. I use a Presonus 850ve portable audio interface to record and play back these lunch recordings on my iMac. The interface is plugged into the heavy duty (plugged into a wall socket) power supply via the Apple USB cable. During my study I sometimes read the lit class notes as I listen to class audio lectures. Eyes & Hands My desk is connected to a Skype user via an Apple Lightning cable via the power supply. My iPhone is connected to the speaker via the same cable. The DAB radio is connected to the speaker via the same cable. Browser & Mail I use Skitch for capturing annotations of web pages and PDFs. I use Mail for e-mails. (Alternative) As a seventh cost I use another late 2008 MacBook Pro. Its OSX Snow Leopard. It has Aperture, iMovie and GarageBand installed. Its connected via Apple's standard USB2.0 port to the same power supply as the iMac. Its used for the image capture of the online sources as listed below, its primary browser and its secondary browser so that I can read the books online. However the main browser is still the iMac. Also the notebook plays music using the dock 'bongos' (the one with the cable that goes to my External Speaker). However I also use the lightning dock for games so I can have it plugged into the speaker and it's not as noticeable. Some stuff You can be sure that I have all sorts of games on my iMac- iTunes library load time is half as long when the games are locked in the iMac rather than the Dock- iTunes screen showing my 30gb library. Ettore's opinion There are two drawbacks of the iMac- When you're playing a game in iTunes, you're playing it in a completely different app than the game. You can't full screen it, you can't maximize it,
