FIFA is Electronic Arts' premier franchise for the creation, simulation and play of soccer video games. FIFA holds the Guinness World Records for having the largest community of football (soccer) fans on the Internet and has been distributed in 135 countries and in 31 languages. In addition to its global community, FIFA has a global network of over 35 million registered gamers. EA SPORTS' FIFA-series has sold over 70 million units worldwide and reached over 400 million aggregate hours of gameplay on various platforms. The last two FIFA-series have been the top-selling sports-related videogame franchises of all time in the U.S. and Canada.* FIFA 22 We think of FIFA as a living game that keeps getting better and better. New features and additions keep coming in and are continually made available to current and new players. From new ways to play, to liveliness and more gameplay depth, FIFA 22 has new ways to play and more gameplay depth. New ways to Play Core to FIFA's evolution is how we create great football-players. We want to make sure that the core fans of the game can enjoy FIFA in the same way as the new-to-FIFA players. We continue to build on the technology and deepen the simulation of the game and our commitment to making the most realistic, detailed football possible. We have worked to make the game more enjoyable for the new and the casual footballer by giving them more freedom in how they play. We have made some core changes to the game that you can read about below. Some of the new gameplay features include: Direct Kicks Now Available: A direct kick can be used any time a player controls the ball beyond the penalty box. Player List Enabled: Players can now switch positions and work their way through the player list. New Player Control: Players can now be played as if they are a ghost - meaning the real player's head moves, but they cannot control the ball. As the gameplay advances, this allows players to control players the same way they would control players in real life. For example, you can control players in the same way in a midfield position as you do in an attacking position. Air Pass and Cross: Players can now handle the ball by using both feet in the air. Once a player has successfully received a pass, they can now pass it on to a teammate. We are adding a new air pass animation. New Players: Our game engine
