XReminder is a simple, small, and totally free reminder application for your tasks and projects. XReminder is a very tiny app, with no external dependencies (no network connection), no notifications, nor advertising. It has no startup screen to display. You only see it when you open it for the first time. It is not a full-featured application like other similar apps, like Calendar, Reminders, etc. XReminder allows you to set up a reminder for a specific project, person, date, time, or interval (every Monday morning, every year on the first Monday of the month, etc.). XReminder does not display your calendar, but it has its own calendar. Every time you open XReminder, it asks you for your preferred calendar, just like any other calendar app. Another characteristic that sets XReminder apart from other apps is the huge number of reminder attributes that you can modify. There are a total of 74 customizable reminder attributes. You can select the duration of the reminder, the type of notification you want to display ("Not Now", "Today", "Every Week", "Every Month", "On [day, time]") and other interesting options like a sound and font size. Your tasks and projects are always with you on your desktop. They are already on the XReminder "calendar", so no extra effort is required from you. Every time you open XReminder, it is instantly organized. The status of your projects is updated and the "calendar" is refreshed so that you always know the status of your projects.
