there are several websites that provide the online chemistry questions that are similar to the ones that are available in the books. these websites are often referred to as the "test banks". these sites are great in the sense that there are several questions with the answers provided for the students. moreover, these sites are free. so, if a student is unable to afford a textbook or a study material, he/she will not have to spend more money. the course content for the exams consists of three major parts: physics: thermodynamics, kinetics, relativity, wave-particle duality, energy and matter conservation, classical and modern physics, fundamentals of quantum mechanics, atomic and molecular physics, relativistic and quantum field theory chemistry: acid-base equilibria, ion-molecule interactions, electrons, positrons, wave-particle duality, equilibrium reactions, kinetics, thermodynamics, ionic reactions, mixtures, polymers, biochemistry, chromatography, structure of biological molecules, organic chemistry, organometallic chemistry, biochemical reactions and mechanisms, macromolecular and supramolecular chemistry biology: physiology, biochemistry, molecular biology, plant physiology, molecular biology, cell biology, genetics, embryology, reproduction, development, developmental biology, pathology, immunology, zoology, ecology, evolution, development and ecology, organismal biology, anatomy, physiology, genetics, pathology, microbiology, medical microbiology, anatomy and physiology the topics covered in the chemistry section of the paper are as follows: acid-base equilibria ion-molecule interactions electrons, positrons wave-particle duality equilibrium reactions kinetics thermodynamics ionic reactions mixtures polymers biochemistry organometallic chemistry biochemical reactions and mechanisms macromolecular and supramolecular chemistry organic chemistry organic chemistry macromolecular and supramolecular chemistry 5ec8ef588b
