Screen Shot Pro is a small and powerful screen capture tool for Windows. It has advanced features like screen capture, image optimization, screen capture of specific region of screen, screen capture of all windows, windows animation, and many others. Screenshots from within programs Screen Shot Pro allows to take a screenshot of any window within the program you're working with. The whole window is captured, including its controls and the window frame. Additionally, you can capture any object on the screen by holding down the Ctrl key and pressing the Shift+PrtScrn. The screenshot file is saved in PNG format. It also has many advanced features like resizing, adding watermarks, combining multiple files into one, and more. Screen Shot Pro allows you to save the screenshots as a JPG file, save a GIF, or save a BMP file. It does not allow you to compress or decompress an image. Capturing the screen of all windows As stated above, it's possible to capture the entire screen (or a specific region of it) with one single hotkey. Note: Screen Shot Pro supports hotkeys for Windows and X11 window managers. You can assign any hotkey combination to be your screen capture tool. The hotkey can be easily changed in the Preferences window. Screen Shot Pro will then ask you to select a hotkey for screen capture. Capturing the screen of specific window Screen Shot Pro allows you to select any window that you want to capture. It will then place a screenshot of that window at the cursor position on the screen. The screen capture tool doesn't allow you to capture only a portion of the window, which is why it works with windows. It is possible to select any window within any application by using the ALT and CTRL keys. Screenshot of a window that was already running when Screen Shot Pro was launched will not show in the window for a while. The screenshot will not be saved until you close the window you want to capture. View the screen of specific window The screenshot you take with Screen Shot Pro is in PNG format. It is a single file that includes all the information of your screen capture. It can be saved as a JPG or BMP file or as a GIF file. 2edc1e01e8
