All 5 floors of the Münster an der Alster hospital were evacuated due to the blaze. The blaze started at about 11am and lasted around two hours, with no injuries reported on the ground floor. 1 comment Thanks for the reply, that is good to know they are all right. I was in hospital recently and they told me fire alarms were not working, but when i mentioned that to them, they took me up to the hospital, raised all of the alarms and sent everyone out.[Psychophysiological studies on the effects of noise on the central nervous system]. A psychophysiological study was carried out to elucidate the noise-related physiological effects. The subjects were investigated by means of a visual evoked response, the P50 evoked potential of the cortex and the startle reaction in sound stimuli. The results are as follows. 1) The average amplitude of the brainstem auditory evoked
